

What We Defend

We are being asked in many ways to contribute to national defense, and patriotic Americans are responding willingly. New taxes are already here and more will undoubtedly follow as the bill for defense continues to pile up. It seems almost certain that for the first time in our history men will be conscripted into the army in peacetime. To these burdens most of our people make no great objection.

The fact of American willingness to defend a free and decent way of living makes us unusually conscious of the meaning of freedom. After years in which we have taken for granted the existence of liberty, we suddenly have discovered anew the truth of the old saying: "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty."

In those easy years of the past some of our people even came to believe that freedom and rights were not so important after all. It is time that all of us should observe the differences between our way of life and the kind of life allotted to those whom the dictators now rule.

Americans believe first of all in freedom of conscience. No citizen of our free land is required to profess ideas or to salute rulers against his will. The pictures of massed thousands raising hands in salute to a dictator—the form of salute varying with the land and the ruler—, and the accounts of concentration camps for those who dare to disagree with their self-appointed masters tell the contrast in other lands.

Americans believe in the right to choose those who shall represent them in the making of laws under which we shall live. It matters not that this system works imperfectly. It is nevertheless infinitely better than any system of self-appointed "leaders" professing to know the people's will and to know it better than the people themselves. The rise to power of these "leaders" tells how far they are from truly representing their people.

The Bolshevik Revolution was made by a tiny, well-organized minority, which used machine guns on the opposition to attain power and has used the firing squad with monotonous regularity to keep it.

The Facist and the Nazi leaders went out into the streets with armed hoodlums and beat up anyone who disagreed with them. These are the "representatives" of the common man in Russia, Italy, and Germany today. By contrast the imperfections which sometimes appear in the American system are negligible.

Americans believe in the right of an individual to own property, and to use it and control it as he sees fit, subject only to the restriction that he shall not injure others with it.

He shall be free to enter a business or to leave it, or to change from one occupation to another at will, without asking leave of the government or being ordered to do any of these things by the deputy of a distant ruler.

The absence of property rights in a Communist state, and the rigid control of the state over property and occupations in a Facist or Nazi state, have become too well known to need description here.

The American belief in personal rights as against the government is the basic difference between our system and the dictatorships.

Here a man can defend himself against charges and can have a fair trial by his fellow citizens. There a man can be seized and carried away to a secret place of detention, whether guilty or innocent, or he may even be put to death.

The imprisonment of the German pastor, Niemoeller, after he had been tried and found not guilty, is one of the worst examples. The Russian murder of millions of "kulaks" — so-called rich peasants — because the government desired their land for the creation of state farms is another example. It is only in a country which has guarantees of personal rights that a man is safe from the whims and the arbitrariness of those who rule.

Let us not be misled. If we are to be attacked, we shall first be treated to large doses of clever propaganda — as in fact we are, by communist and fascist groups in this country. All the imperfections of our system will be dinned into our ears.

Township The Goat' For Other Tax Bodies

Relief, Town And Road and Bridge Funds Nicked For $2500

Gilbert Klehm, Wheeling township supervisor, was glad to receive two checks Wednesday morning from the county treasurer. Dismissed followed the pleasure, however, after he read the statements that accompanied the checks.

The deductions were perfectly legitimate according to the law, but it was quite a jolt when he learned that the poor relief check of $523.36, represented all that was left from 1939 collections of $1,503.19 paid at the office of the county treasurer. A charge of $957.28 was made against the relief fund to cover the cost of the quadrennial assessment and extension of the taxes. In spreading the relief tax no provision was made for the costs of levy assessment roll. This means that Wheeling township relief fund is "out" nearly a thousand dollars. This loss will be keenly felt by the relief office as the county relief office in estimating the town relief budget, makes no allowance for such a deduction.

Deductions made against the township fund were a lot worse. The total collection of township taxes made by the county treasurer was $858.90. The charge against the fund for the spreading of the quadrennial assessment and the extension of taxes was $957.28, which is $111.26 more than the amount collected. The treasurer's office did not wait until additional taxes had been received before deducting that $111, but took the latter out of road and bridge funds. The township fund did not receive a penny of the township taxes collected since June 1 and owes the road and bridge fund over $100.

Road and bridge funds are charged $562 as its share of quadrennial and extension costs. The collections amounted to a thousand dollars. Check of $381 was received with a "duebill" against the township for the $111.

In addition to the other deductions the county treasurer collects as his fee 1½% of all collections.

Mr. Klehm does not question the authority of the county treasurer in making the deductions but its payment does cripple local tax funds. None of the other taxing bodies in the township are charged for tax extension. They receive the full amounts received by the county treasurer, less his commission.

School Men Travel 7200 Miles; Miss 'Schoolmom'

C. V. Baker, principal of the Arlington Heights grade school and G. C. Butler of Palatine, assistant county supt. of schools, with their wives and the Baker's daughter, have just returned from a 7,200 mile trip through the scenic wonderlands of the western United States and Canada.

They toured all of the well known points of interest such as the National parks, Banff, Lake Louise and Vancouver in Canada, snowballed each other at 12,000 feet above sea level up where not even the trees grow, slept under blankets nearly every night, got successfully back into the United States without being conscripted for the British Army in Canada, and in general had one grand and glorious time.

But at one point on the trip the boys sure "missed the boat." Having seen how real racing is conducted at Arlington Park before leaving on their trip, the tourists welcomed the chance to see how it was done up at Vancouver, Canada.

Well, it wasn't like Arlington, there were none of the modern up to the minute gadgets up in the far north, but there was a race track, a grandstand and some horses. And one of those horses was named "Schoolmom."

What a hunch for a couple of school men far from home and not averse to picking up a little expense money.

So the boys talked over the project of playing Schoolmom. A Vancouver friend even proposing they each put in $2 and play Schoolmom across the board.

But after much deliberation and as these "fifth columnists" try to weaken the willingness of our people to fight for the heritage of three centuries of struggle.

We are not arming to pre-serve the imperfections, but to guard our free way of life. When we are no longer threatened by the enslaved armies of Europe and Asia, we shall be free to go on with the work of improving our own system.

That work is slow and often halting, but it can go on, in the future as in the past, only among a free people.

60-Piece Band At Recreation Park Sunday

Chicago Boys Club band of sixty pieces will appear at Arlington Heights recreation park Sunday afternoon. They are coming to Arlington to enjoy the facilities of the park and will bring their musical instruments with them. Two concerts will be given between the hours of two and three in the afternoon and probably between seven and eight in the evening.

This band for seven consecutive years has been among the winners of Chicagoland Music Festival. John Sovinec is the director, who with his band has gained many in the Chicago area.

At the sound of the bell they were off. Le Blanc took the lead and held it until reaching the three quarter mark in the pool, when he suddenly swerved to the right, and instead of finishing at the west end of the pool, he ran afoul of the north wall in "Andy K. style." Gordon and Weimer fouled each other in the center of the pool and finally splashed to the finish with their arms around each other's neck, a photo finish. The picture showed Dean Weimer, Grove City, Ohio, the winner, and Jimmy Gordon, Ferndale, Michigan, was second. The winner was paid $2.00, and second, $1.00.

Only those who were affiliated with the races, and here for the racing season were eligible for the Arlington Park Jockey club sweepstakes. After numerous scratches and added starters, which may have been due to the heat and the absence of starting gates, the field was reduced to three starters, Hubert LeBlanc, Jimmy Gordon, and Dean Weimer.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Truth" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 28.

The Golden Text was, "O God, my heart is fixed; I will sing and give praise, even with my glory . . . For thy mercy is great above the heavens; and thy truth reacheth unto the clouds" (Psalms 108:1, 4).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God" (Luke 13:11-13).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "If sickness is true or the idea of Truth, you cannot destroy sickness, and it would be absurd to try. Then classify sickness and error as our Master did, when he spoke of the sick, 'whom Satan hath bound,' and find a sovereign antidote for error in the life-giving power of Truth acting on human belief, a power which opens the prison doors to such as are bound, and sets the captive free physically and morally" (p. 495).

Golf Lesson No. 5--The Iron Shot By Mt. Prospect's Tutor Johnny Lindstrom

by TOMMY KOUZMANOFF

"Iron shots," advises Johnny Lindstrom, Mt. Prospect Country Club's youthful professional, "are hit very crisply or with more of a punch instead of a sweeping stroke. In iron play all shots are hit down and through the ball. That is, the club head comes in contact with the ball and continues down and through, taking some turf, which is, of course, called the divot. That is done to produce back spin and control. The turf keeps the blade straight while the ball is flattening itself out on the blade."

When taking your stance for an iron shot, the ball should be played farther back or in a line with your right heel. Start the club back with the left hand. Keep it low to the ground and the elbows in close to the body. This does not mean that the club should be scrubbed along the ground, but the arc through which the club travels should be low. Simply take the club back at arm's length and don't try to cut the corners. The left hand guides the club; the right hand puts the punch into the shot."

As an anti-climax, when the outcome of the game was virtually settled, a dispute developed over a decision in the seventh. After Mecklenburg bounced a slow hopper to Laseke, Niebuhr came to bat. He topped the ball which rolled to his left along the foul line. All three Gaare players who were close enough to play the ball let it roll, claiming that it had hit Niebuhr and was automatically foul. The ball rolled across the line and came to rest several inches outside the line but touching some of the line from the foul-line, which had mixed with the deep dust all along the base path.

The umpire, standing squarely on the line where he had an excellent view of the ball and line, called it a foul hit, ignoring the Gaare claim that the ball had struck the base. Niebuhr was called back from first base, after a ten minute session of debate, in which Meeske argued that the ball was fair. Niebuhr then drove one in the dirt to Laseke and was thrown out at first. Al Hedke followed with a grounder to Kehl for the final out.

This was Meeske's first defeat in the second round of play. They finished second to Gaare's in the first round, winning six and losing two. They were beaten by Cafe and Gaare by large scores, but won their other games convincingly. They still have to play Cafe in the second round, as well as several other teams. If some team will oblige by knocking off Gaare, Meeske can tie for the second round title by winning the rest of their games, and thus have a chance to play for the season's championship.

Meeske's Lose To Gaare's In Second Round Of Softball

The Meeske A. C. team, Mt. Prospect's entry in the Arlington Softball League, lost its second game in eight days to Gaare's Studebakers at Recreation Park in Arlington Heights on Monday, July 22. As in the first game, which Gaare's took by the convincing score of 9-0, the Meeske team failed to drive in all those important runs, losing this game 3-1. Their one run was unearned, and scored only because the two Gaare errors of the evening came in the third inning after Niebuhr's hit.

In four innings of the seven, Meeske runners reached scoring position only to remain there when teammates left them stranded. The low point of this weakness was reached in the sixth. Roy Wille hit, Vern Soenksen hit, Hildebrand tried to sacrifice but forced Wille at third when Laseke and Irv Kehl made a great play. Knosp tapped an easy grounder to Laseke who threw to Sadecky for a force play at the plate. Elmer Hedke finished the inning with another easy tap to Kehl at shortstop.

Gaare's scored an unearned run in the second inning. In the last of the sixth, after Meeske did their fade-out, the winning runs were driven across the plate. With one out, Lou Sadecky beat out an infield hit. Mel Laseke picked out a pitch to his ilking and blasted it into right center for a triple. He rode home on Al Pedersen's long fly.

With ideal weather the races were expertly handled and the large crowd was orderly and kept back of the ropes by the local police, the county police and state police and Boy Scouts under the direction of Mr. Kyger.

No Bad Accidents

No serious crashes occurred although the car of the Purnell and Wilson company driven by Richard Korsgard and Mr. Ladendorf had to ram over the heat when Host, driving the Ladendorf car, scraped the side of the ramp and lost control of his car and tore off a tire. The tire was replaced and the heat run over.

In the semi-final, heat four, the Ace Store won, Purnell & Wilson, the Croatian School and the Held car.

WHEELING WHIPS C. Y. O.

Scottie's Texaco's defeated the C. Y. O. 8 to 1 behind the 3 hit pitching of Calanca. Calanca had his strike-out ball working as he set 9 of the 21 men down on strikes.

Bobby Hartman led Scottie's hitters with 3 straight singles.

C. Y. O. scored their only run in the 3rd when Goedke doubled to lead off the inning and scored on Mayerik's single.

Heidorn's Beat Leo's

After giving up only 3 hits in 4 frames, Bill Langhorst blew up in the 5th inning and Heidorn's scored 6 runs to defeat Leo's 9 to 8.

Going in the fifth, Leo's were ahead 5 to 1 and then Heidorn's led 7 to 5. Neither team scored in the sixth but Leo's regained the lead in the first of the seventh due to a homer by Jr. Becker with two men on. Leo's lead was snuffed out in the last of the inning when Urik singled and G. Milligan homered.

In fairness to Leo's it must be said that Heidorn's received every break in the game or they would never have won.

Firemen Defeat Red Wings, 3-1

In Pitcher's Duel

by FORREST DAVIS

The Arlington Red Wings were defeated by the Chicago Firemen 3-1 last Sunday, but it took eight innings for the visitors to score. The score was 1-0 from the first inning when Arlington got two hits to score their tally.

Schaefer pitched one of the best games of the season and Hart, the visitor's pitcher, until he gave way for a pinch batter in the 8th, was almost as good as Schaefer. It was a pitcher's duel and although the local boys lost, they played good ball until the end, when with two men on base and Clark at bat, the pitcher caught Hart, of the Red Wings, off first and end their mild last inning rally.

Next Sunday the Chicago Cardinals will be the visiting team at Recreation Park. Game called at 3 p. m.

to see them may do so.

Because of the fine showing made by all the boys seven consolation races were run in order that others might qualify for prizes. In these races the First National Bank car driven by Steve Suchek, was a winner.

Each boy was given a white jersey with red lettering as well as a silver colored helmet which he was permitted to keep.

Leonard Held's car made the best time of all the cars when in the first heat he made the 600 feet course in 24.3 seconds. The winner, Peter Michelic, in the final heat made the distance in 25 seconds while Held's time was 25.1. In the second heat these two cars were both clocked at 24.4 while in the semi-finals they tied at 25 even.

Insurance Company Starts Drive Against Appendicitis Deaths

To make the American people as free from appendicitis mortality as medical science believes possible is the aim of Dr. Donald B. Armstrong, third vice-president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. But, he says, at the present time the composite American appendix is the "birth place of 15,000 deaths a year."

Deploring this high and largely needless mortality, Dr. Armstrong points out that these 15,000 deaths could be reduced by at least 50 per cent through the observance of a simple three-point rule. So, in case of a stomach-ache, which may turn out to be an attack of appendicitis, he says to play safe and—

Call a doctor. Remain quiet and apply an ice bag to the abdomen.

Refrain from taking a laxative, food, or medicine.

So important is this procedure which Dr. Armstrong stresses, should be followed in every case

Gay '90s Racing Scene Returns to Chicago

The Washington Park race track just south of Chicago will be the scene this Sunday of the re-enactment of the first running of the American Derby. It is a gala spectacle which opens American Derby Week with Chicago civic and business men participating in an attempt to bring back to the shores of Lake Michigan the glory, the color and glamor that once made this race the greatest on the American continent. Derby Week will culminate on Saturday, August 10, with the 30th renewal of that great stake. Above is a typical American Derby scene from the old days painted by Robert L. Dickey, which is to be duplicated with all its color and old styles Sunday at Washington Park. The program called the "Cavalcade of the Horse" will show the important parts the horses played in American life. The gates at Washington Park will be thrown open to the public and it is believed that a crowd in excess of 50,000 will see the formal opening of American Derby Week.

Several X-rays were taken and while there were no bones broken, he was badly cut and bruised. Eighteen stitches had to be taken in his scalp. He is still at the hospital and his many friends hope and pray that he will be well soon.

Saunders Oil Co.
Grand Opening
Is Saturday

Saunders Oil Co. has opened a super gas service station at the corner of the Northwest highway and Chicago ave., Palatine. The grand opening of the station will be held Saturday when a quart of Texaco insulated oil will be given free with purchase of a dollar's worth of gas.

Motorists passing this point have been showing a lot of interest in the construction of the station which required the removal of an entire hill before building could be started. Provision had to be made for the storage of large quantity of gas as quantity sales makes possible the sale of gas at a reduced price.

Cheap as is the gas, itself, the station is the last word in appearance and construction. The office is finished in pine; rest rooms are deluxe and equipment for the lubrication department is the very latest.

L. L. Saunders is the proprietor of the station. He is assisted by Johnny Orchard, who won lubrication honors during the ten years that he was employed at stations along the north shore.

Mr. Saunders has been a resident of Palatine the past year; says that he is here to save money for the motorists and give to them high quality gas at a price that will lengthen the dollar mileage of their cars.

The lower price will extend to lubrication jobs, for which the charge will be 75c. Johnny Orchard will personally handle such work.

This Week in Wheeling

LUCILE SCHNEIDER, Editor

On Tuesday, July 30, little Shirley Ann Scanlon celebrated her third birthday with the help of her little friends. The table was decorated in pink and blue, with paper dishes and napkins to match. In the middle of the table was a beautiful birthday cake which read "Happy Birthday to Shirley." Cake and ice cream were served and all had a fine time.

Mrs. Charles Balling and Mr. M. C. Balling were among the twenty-five relatives who gathered at the home of a cousin, Mrs. E. Stout of Barrington, last Saturday afternoon, to enjoy a feast of fresh sweet corn, with all the trimmings, her job at the Wheeling State Bank, after a week's vacation. She says she doesn't find the heat as hard to take at work, as it was at home with lots of time to think about it. There's consolation there for all those of us who don't have a vacation.

The August Child Health Station

will be held on the second Wednesday afternoon, August 14. This will be the final round-up of children who will start to school for the first time in September.

Beginning next week the public library will be open only on Monday evenings from 6:30 until 8 p.m. Withdrawals made on Thursday afternoons were so few in number that it was decided to discontinue that period.

The D. C. Morrison family were invited to the home of a sister in Des Plaines on Sunday. In the afternoon they accompanied their nephew, William Macko to the scout camp Oh-Da-Ko-Ta in Wisconsin.

Thirty members of the Haben family braved the heat for a family reunion on the Haben farm on Sunday afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Carl Dickhoff has been seriously ill since last week. She was removed to the hospital at Oak Park on Sunday evening. We are pleased to note that her condition has shown a marked improvement.

The Lehs Behrens family returned home from their vacation trip around the Great Lakes last week, reporting a fine time. They spent several days at Lake Namakagon where the Gemmills of Mt. Prospect were also vacationing. Another stop was made with a cousin, Mrs. Robt. Heppner at Colby, Wis.

A group of young people representing the Presbyterian Young People's club and friends, enjoyed an outing to Cedar Lake last Friday evening.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Morning worship, 10:55 o'clock. Sunday church school, 9:30 a.m. Wednesday evening, August 7, 8 p.m., regular meeting of the Young People's club.

Thursday, Aug. 8, instead of the regular meeting of the Ladies' Society, an outing will be held by the ladies which will take them to Crystal Lake for the afternoon and evening.

The young couple received many beautiful and useful gifts. This being the busy season in their place of business they confined their honeymoon trip to one day, returning home on Saturday. They will make their home in one of the small apartments in the Bieber residence for the present.

About fifteen members of last season's volley ball teams with their families picnicked at Sherwood Park, Cedar Lake, last Thursday afternoon and evening. The outing was arranged as a special treat using surplus funds which remained at the close of the playing season.

The afternoon was spent swimming, playing ball, horseshoe and cards, and boat riding. An outboard motor provided by one of the members, was kept busy by those who went boating.

The after supper program was cut short by the rain storm which broke about 7:30, sending half of the group home in a hurry. Those who remained enjoyed a few dances in the covered pavilion, but the continued rain and wind spoiled the fun, so they decided to adjourn to the home of J. Nielsen where they finished the evening at cards.

Surprise Rateike's With Silver Wedding Celebration

Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Rateike were the honored guests at a silver wedding celebration, planned for them as a surprise by their sons and other relatives.

About 150 guests assembled at the Wheeling Gym where the anniversary celebration was held. Music for dancing was furnished by the Ahrens orchestra.

A delicious cafeteria lunch was served at midnight. Mr. and Mrs. Rateike received many gifts and hosts of good wishes from all their friends.

'New Money' For Surplus Relief Funds

Issue Relief Clients 50 Pct. More In Stamps To Buy Farm Products

Notice—The new food stamp plan is now available to Chicago relief clients which consume the bulk of the relief market and may eventually be extended to include the suburban towns as well. However, the local farmer will benefit by the sale of his products in Chicago. The stamps will probably be redeemable at banks and at offices designated for that purpose.

Farmers in the Chicago area should feel heartened with the opening of the United States Department of Agriculture's Food Stamp Plan, scheduled for Thursday, August 1, according to an announcement by Ellsworth F. J. Reilly, local representative for the Surplus Marketing Administration. Reason for this, he explained, is the fact that for local truck gardeners, growers and producers, the coming of the Food Stamp Plan to Chicago will mean the opening of new and broader markets for their produce.

More than 60,000 cases receiving relief from the Chicago Relief Administration, or almost 200,000 persons, will begin spending approximately $700,000.00 worth of "new money" each month after the plan goes into operation on August 1. This money, it was pointed out, should be a stimulus to both Chicago area farmer-producers and Chicago retail and wholesale food business.

Enlarging on his statement, Reilly indicated that such items as fresh tomatoes, fresh beets,

Eat, Can Tomatoes In July, August, Early September

From October to July only those few who can afford to buy greenhouse tomatoes ever taste the real delicacy of vine-ripened tomato.

Tomatoes grown in our southern states Mexico and Cuba during the late fall, winter and early spring months and sent north to be artificially colored, not ripened, with ethylene gas, are a very poor substitute for the real thing.

"We must find new means of consuming what we produce," he said, "and certainly through its mechanical procedure, the food stamp plan is opening up new and broader markets for the American Farmer."

In explaining the simplicity of operation of the plan, he indicated the important points to remember:

(1) Through the issuance of orange food order stamps in the amount of each relief client's food allowance, normal food expenditures made under the former food grants, will be frozen into "food only" purchases. The Chicago Relief Administration will purchase, at cash face value, orange food order stamps from the government. For each $1.00 worth of orange stamps they buy, they will be given 50¢ worth of blue surplus food order stamps by the Government. They will then issue each client his food allowance to the full amount in orange stamps, plus the 50% additional purchasing power as represented in the blue stamps.

(2) Through the Government's supplementation of blue stamps, the client's purchasing power is increased by exactly half again as much as he formerly had.

(3) The orange stamps are good for any food intended for internal human consumption, in the home; whereas the blue surplus stamps are good only for such foods as the Secretary of Agriculture has declared to be "in surplus."

(4) The plan utilizes existing channels of distribution. That is, these surplus foods are moved to market through the normal retail food channels, with the retailer and wholesaler making their purchases of foodstuffs in the usual manner.

iod when the tomato canneries are working at top speed to put up the very best pack possible.

At this time the housewives should put up their winter supplies of canned tomatoes, tomato juice and tomato puree. Unfortunately, few of them do it. First of all it is the vacation period when many are away. Then, too, the weather is warm in August, and working in the hot kitchen is unpleasant. Finally, the housewives correctly surmise that tomatoes will be cheaper in late September and early October after the canneries have ceased to operate.

Late September and early October is the time to get cheap tomatoes, but it is not the time to get good tomatoes. The nights are cool and the deep red color does not develop. Septoria and other foliage diseases have come and the vines can no longer manufacture the sugars that give the flavors and zest to well-ripened fruits. Deformations, radial cracking and uneven ripening all tend to lower the quality of the pack. This is the reason why canneries cease to operate.

The housewife who wants really delicious and well-colored tomatoes and tomato juice in her cans will follow the lead of the canneries and do her packing in late July, August and early September.

50% Increase In Soybean Meal Seen During 1940

As much as a 50 per cent increase in soybean production may result from the harvest of a bumper crop of soybeans in this country this year if weather conditions are favorable, predicts G. L. Jordan, associate professor of agricultural economics at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, in a current issue of Illinois Farm Economics.

The 1940 acreage of soybeans in the United States is about 14 per cent larger than in 1939, when 874,000 bushels were produced. Production of soybeans for processing, however, is expected to increase by a much larger percentage because about four-fifths of the increase in acreage is found in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Ohio, the principal high-yielding commercial soybean area.

The reduction in price of soybean meal caused by increased supplies would tend to be offset by any increases in consumers' incomes that result from increased business activity, rises in general levels of commodity prices during the year, improved export demand or by a small feed grain or cotton crop, Jordan said.

Prospects for exports of oil seeds or their products are not bright. Some decrease is expected in the production of cottonseed, but the production of all oil seed cakes and meals, Jordan concluded.

Chlorates Best Chemical To Curb Illinois Weeds

Of all chemicals used in weed control, ordinarily only the chlorates can be recommended under Illinois conditions for deep-rooted perennials.

This is the conclusion of L. V. Sherwood, assistant chief of crop production, and E. E. Cockrum, assistant in crop production at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, in "Chemical Warfare on Weeds With Chlorates," mimeographed publication just issued.

Use of chlorates should be limited to small infestations and places inaccessible to cultivation, since they are expensive and not always certain of eradicating the weeds.

Applications of three to five pounds of sodium chlorate or Atlacid, a mixture of sodium chlorate and calcium chloride, for each square rod in late summer, fall or early spring have proved effective in control of most perennial weeds. Atlacid is not so effective, pound for pound, as sodium chlorate.

Second treatments may be necessary. Different weeds require different rates and times of application. The chlorates may be applied dry or in solution. Dry applications are about as effective as those in solution and involve less fire hazard.

An increase this year.

A 50 per cent increase in the production of soybean meal would not have as depressing an effect upon the price of soybean meal as a 50 per cent increase in the production of all oil seed cakes and meals, Jordan concluded.

Treatments made in May, June and early July have not been so successful as those made later in the year. Fall or early spring applications have been most successful.

Best results have been obtained when the soil moisture is high. Fertile soils high in organic matter require more chlorates than less fertile soils. The effect of the chlorates on the soil is only temporary, but usually crops can not be grown for one or two seasons following treatment.

Safety Posters Too Real
Col. John H. Skeggs, chief of the California state highway traffic, has ordered the removal of all cardboard "children" that have been placed at intersections to warn motorists to be careful. Skeggs declared experience had demonstrated they were "more of a menace than a safeguard." They were so lifelike, he declared, that motorists nearly ran down live children while trying to avoid the dummies.

Operating expenses in a modern home are not much greater than those in a non-modern home, home account specialists from the University of Illinois College of Agriculture report in studying home account figures submitted by 472 Illinois account keeping farm families. These families whose accounts are used for research on the cost of living, are among more than 1,200 farm families who are studying their money management with the help of the university specialists.

Modern homes are those with a central heating plant, running water under pressure and a central lighting system. While only 194 families of the group live in modern homes, many families had at least one or two major conveniences. Three-fourths of the families had some type of lighting system and of these, 74 per cent had electricity. A smaller portion, about 286 families, had a central heating plant and an even smaller group had the convenience of running water under pressure. Owners, more than tenants, reported these conveniences except in the case of lighting.

Circumstances, rather than money available, seemed to be the deciding factor as to whether or not the families modernized their homes. Net cash receipts enjoyed by families in modern and non-modern homes varied very little, specialists report.

Families in non-modern homes

(5) The Government enters the picture in only two places once the Plan is in actual operation: (a) The Secretary of Agriculture designates the foods "in surplus," and (b) The Government provides the increased purchasing power, as represented in the Blue Surplus food order stamps.

Behind Scenes In American Business

By John Craddock

New York, July 29 — Business—Trade and industry was in the midst of a summer siesta last week as a heat wave laid a wilting hand on many parts of the country. Indexes of business activity have failed to change appreciably since June. Business is pretty good in most lines, but plodding. That is to say, government orders for national defense probably will have to be relied upon to get the business indexes off dead center and moving freely into higher and more prosperous ground.

These orders are coming out now in good volume. In Washington, the National Defense Advisory Commission announced it has placed orders to date for $1,700,000,000 worth of supplies and munitions for the Army and Navy. This is a huge injection of orders into private enterprise, but the opinion of industrial observers leans to the belief it will not be until some time next fall that industry in general can become fully geared to the special requirements of fulfilling these orders.

Skills Needed—One of the biggest opportunities in years exists for men who have had difficulty getting steady or remunerative work in industry because they lacked a trade. A tremendous "bottleneck" is looming in the national defense program because of a lack of skilled workers. Those who are employed are said to be making $40, $50 a week in some cases as high as $75 a week. And it's going to take some time before the scarcity in tool and die makers, all around machinists, molders, boring machine operators, welders and operators of special machine tools, is overcome in the opinion of the National Industrial Conference Board.

Several promising plans are afoot for filling the gaps in skilled labor. Almost every city of any size is operating the machine shops in its technical high schools through the summer, some of them even at night. Industry itself is giving quick training courses, as is the Civilian Conservation Corps, and the National Youth Administration. Certainly it ought to be no trick at all for a young fellow of average intelligence today to find a good niche for himself in life by taking advantage of current opportunities to learn a skilled occupation.

Failures Explained—Contrary to popular belief it isn't the competition in retailing that causes so many failures—it's the lack of experience. This fact was brought out in a study of the former occupations of small retailers recently completed by Prof. Pearce Kelley, University of Kansas. His report shows that a surprisingly large percentage of those who failed in retailing had no experience whatever to qualify them for the business. According to the study, 45.3 per cent of the retailers investigated came from occupations in unrelated fields. Retailing is becoming an exact science, he points out, and the best guarantee of success is to be "exact" in your knowledge of modern merchandising methods.

Things To Watch For—Women's shoes which can be raised or lowered by a screw-operated jack in the heel . . . a golf putter equipped with a two-handed grip and a leveling gauge, for easing strain and better sighting . . . a combination policeman's billy and gun . . . an apparatus which wakes a drowsing automobile driver by blowing ammonia vapor into his face when he relaxes his grip on the wheel . . . a non-slip crutch with three legs instead of one . . . an electrically heated toilet seat.
